Celebrating Our Past.

Launching Our Future

Centenary

Our Mission

Centenary College of Louisiana fosters a rich intellectual and social atmosphere. Students work within a strong community to create personalized, distinctive experiences. Building lives of integrity, our students explore the unfamiliar, invent new approaches to understanding, and connect their work and lives to the world at large. Centenary students enjoy a vibrant college life and achieve superior preparation for futures yet unimagined.

Centenary traces its founding to 1825 and is affiliated with the United Methodist Church.

Purpose Statement

Centenary is a selective liberal arts college offering undergraduate programs and a limited number of graduate programs in the arts, humanities, natural sciences, and social sciences, which strengthen the foundation for students' personal lives and career goals. Students and faculty work together to build a community focused on ethical and intellectual development, respect and concern for human and spiritual values, and the joy of creativity and discovery.

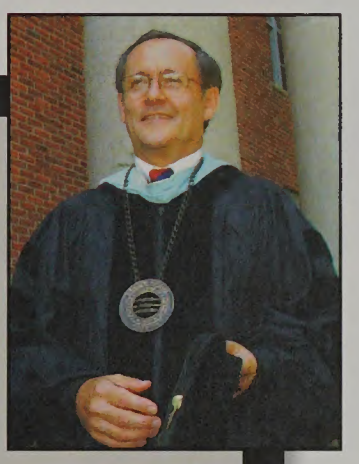
Message from the President



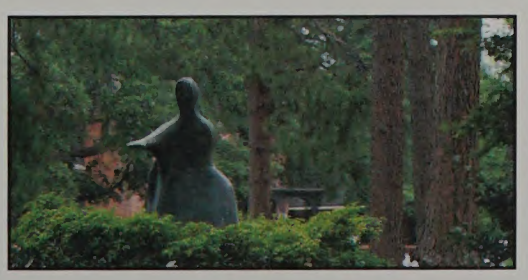
Events throughout the 2007 - 2008 academic year focused on a milestone in Centenary's history: the 100th anniversary of the College's relocation to Shreveport in 1908. Planning for this year-long celebration culminated with kick-off events in January 2008. Activities throughout the year have ranged from The Big Event, a community service project; to Bricks and Mortarboards, a stakeholder appreciation luncheon; to the Centennial Showcase, a community-wide festival held at the Louisiana Boardwalk. Yet to come is the Centennial Gala in November which precedes the official ending of our Centennial Celebration at the annual Candlelight Service and Holiday Reception in December.

We considered this landmark in our history not only a cause for celebration but also as an opportunity for reflection. What characteristics appear as constants throughout our history? Members of the Centenary community met to examine that question and identified five core values that inform our actions: community, justice, excellence, integrity, and individual attention. We believe that these five qualities have defined Centenary throughout its 183-year history.

Having articulated these values, we now pledge to use them to measure the products and actions of this institution and its constituents, including the activities and accomplishments described in this annual report. Many thanks for the various gifts you have provided in support of them.

Sincerely,

Kenneth L. Schwab
President



ACCESS

Celebrating Our Intellectual Atmosphere

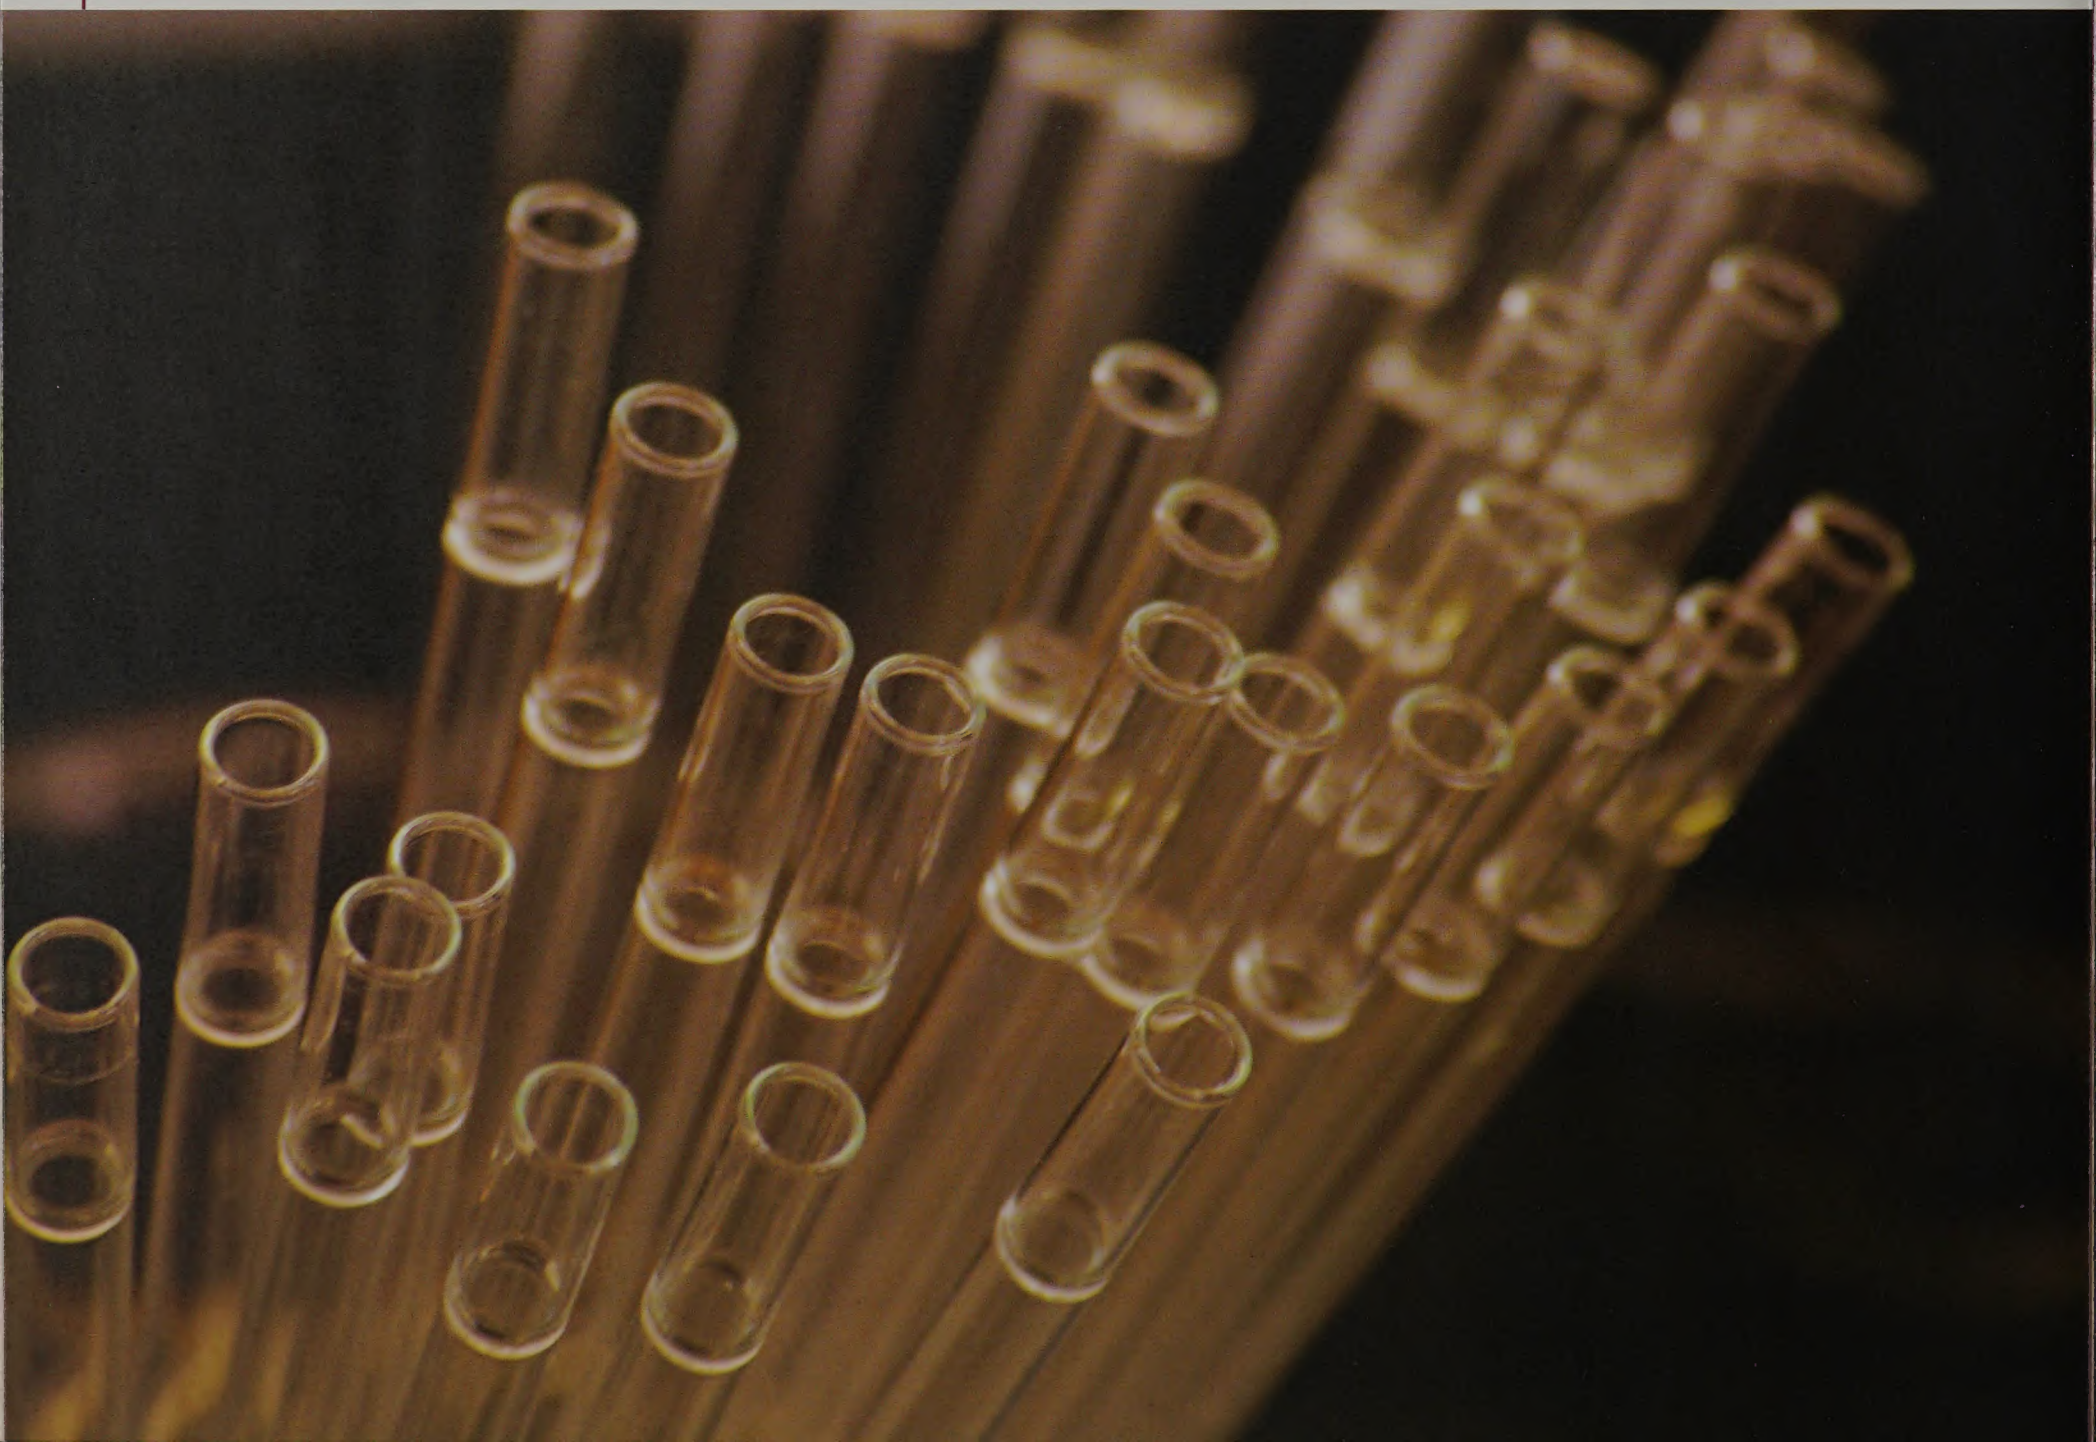
Faculty/Summer Research

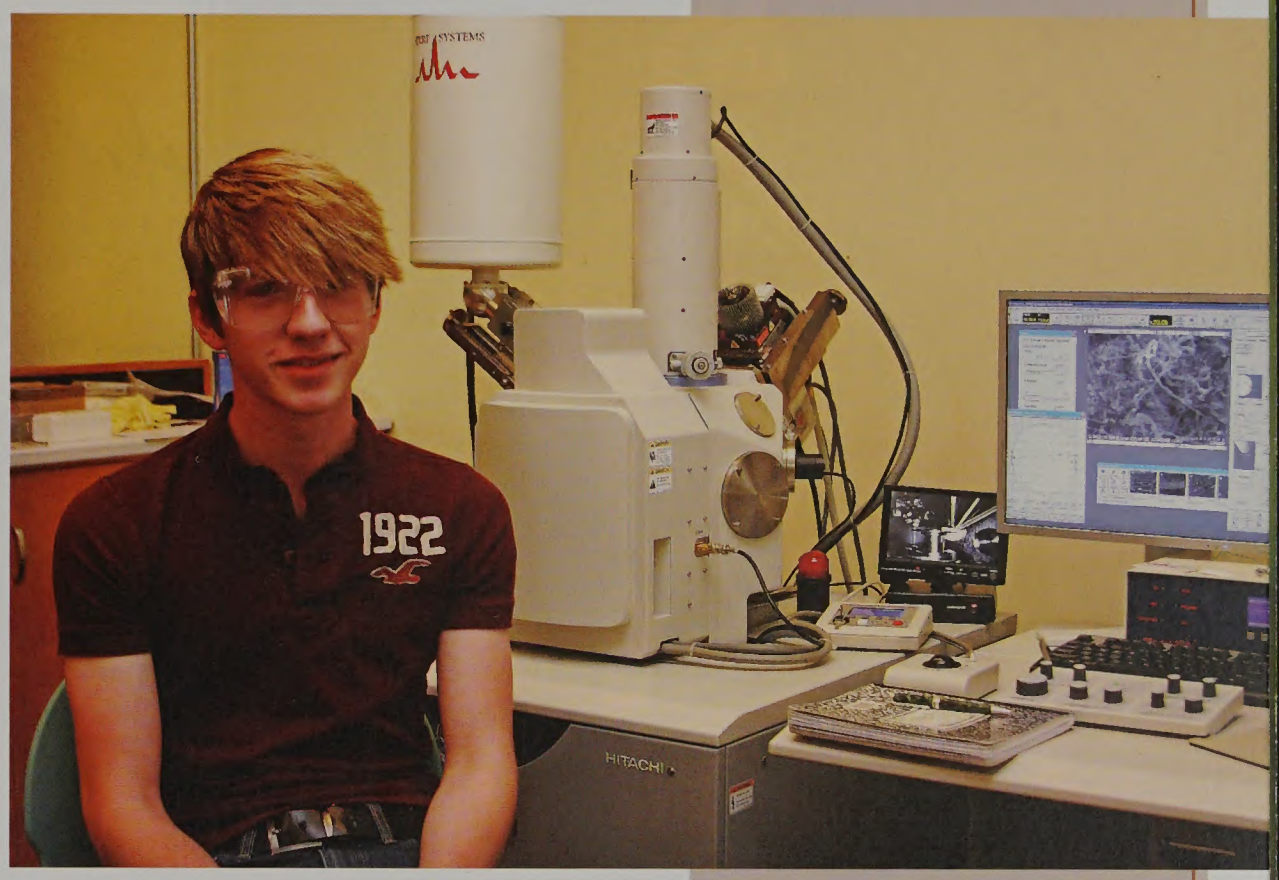
One of the best ways to learn any discipline is by using a hands-on approach. At Centenary, students have access to the top experts in their field, state-of-the-art equipment and the opportunity to conduct one-on-one research projects alongside their professors.

At Centenary, junior-level students are conducting PhD-level research, which provides them the opportunity to gain experience and develop important skills. This experience allows students to discover for themselves whether they are interested in pursuing research and clinical work, entering the workforce, or applying to medical school after graduation.

And most importantly, the summer research allows our undergraduates the opportunity to work directly with a faculty mentor…not a teaching assistant or graduate student. The joint venture is a way for both student and professor to work together, and learn from each other while providing students the necessary tools to succeed in graduate studies, in business and in industry.

This year, 19 students participated in the Summer Research program. This program allows students to join with faculty members in powerful learning experiences through research. Students have the opportunity to apply their classroom knowledge to a specific project, while faculty benefit from the assistance of capable, motivated students.





Some of the research projects completed this summer include:

- Matt Blanchard, a sophomore political science major, worked alongside Dr. Thomas Ticich, Professor of Chemistry, in finding new ways to grow carbon nanotubes in a simpler fashion. Nanotubes are 1/50,000 the size of a human hair follicle, and useful in many applications in nanotechnology, electronics, optics, and possibly the treatment of some forms of cancer.

- Bradlee Robertson, a junior from Shreveport, La., worked on programming Artificial Intelligence with Dr. Mark Goadrich, Assistant Professor of Computational Mathematics, for a controller of a rescue robot. Eventually, the robot could be used to assist in disaster relief rescue operations.

- Julia Cornelius, a senior biophysics major, plans to attend medical school after graduation. Working with Dr. Juan Rodriguez, Chair of the Physics Department, her research focused on how to detect the presence of Nitric Oxide in biological samples. Nitric Oxide is an important signaling molecule in biological samples and has been found to be important in muscle relaxation, especially in the heart. The results of this research could have far reaching effects, especially in the development of drugs that could help those with heart disease.

Students participating in this year's summer research projects included:

Bobby Jindal visit

Continuing a Tradition of Community-Based Speakers

Over the years, many dignitaries have graced the stage at Centenary. The College has brought political candidates, and those officials already in office, to debate and discuss their views. On October 23rd, Governor-elect Bobby Jindal stopped at Centenary while touring the state to thank northwest Louisiana and the people who voted for him. In a short speech aimed at nonpartisanship, he encouraged all people of Louisiana to act as a team. "It doesn't matter what party you are from...the point is we are all looking for the best of Louisiana."

The governor's ethic reform transition team met in December at the College campus, including Board of Trustee member and Vice Chair of the advisory council, Virginia Shehee. Centenary College President Dr. Ken Schwab, was also invited to be part of the governor's advisory council on education.

Hosting Cutting Edge Conferences and Speakers

Centenary College continues to host popular conferences and lectures that address diverse opinions, multiple perspectives, and today's most significant issues. We were able to attract prestigious speakers, all experts in their field. In the true spirit of our Methodist heritage that has shaped the school, the College is open to varied points of view and debate, and has provided a place for different voices to be heard. Events and speakers held at the College during 2007-08 include:

Kingfish: The Reign of Huey P. Long

Discussion on the many faces of former Louisiana Governor, Huey P. Long, lawmaker and lawbreaker

Keynote speaker: Dr. Richard D. White Jr, LSU professor and Huey P. Long biographer.

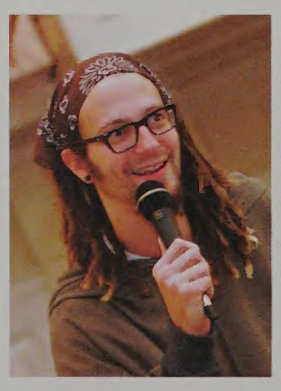
Constitutional Interpretation

Lecture on Constitutional Interpretation by the current U.S. Supreme Court

Keynote speaker: Dr. Lee Epstein, Henry Wade Rogers Professor at Northwestern University, and a Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

The Irresistible Revolution: Living as an Ordinary Radical

Lecture on issues of social action and Christian witness



Keynote speaker: Shane Claiborne, noted Christian activist, public speaker and author. Shane shared his experiences working among the poor and homeless across the world.

Philosophy Talk

Exploring the concept of Work

Keynote speakers: Attaway Fellows and radio hosts Ken Taylor, Professor and Chair of the Department of Philosophy at Stanford University; and John Perry, Henry Waldgrave Stuart Professor of Philosophy at Stanford University. A live broadcast of the show, "Philosophy Talk" was aired by the campus radio station KSCL 91.3 FM.

Inside Creationism's Trojan Horse: A Closer Look at Intelligent Design

Public lecture detailing the political and religious aspects of the intelligent design creationist movement

Keynote speaker: Dr. Barbara Forrest, Centenary Attaway Scholar and Philosophy professor in the Department of History and Political Science at Southeastern Louisiana University.

Philosophy Forum

Value and Virtue in a Godless Universe: Suppose there is no God

Keynote speaker: Dr. Erik Wielenberg, Associate Professor of Philosophy at DePauw University. The Forum was a two-part public series that examined a social issue in an open forum. Responders included current students and local citizens to Wielenberg's premise that if God does not exist, human life can still have meaning, we do have moral obligations and virtue is possible.

Interfaith Symposium on Muslim and Christian Relations

Sponsored by the Christian Leadership Center

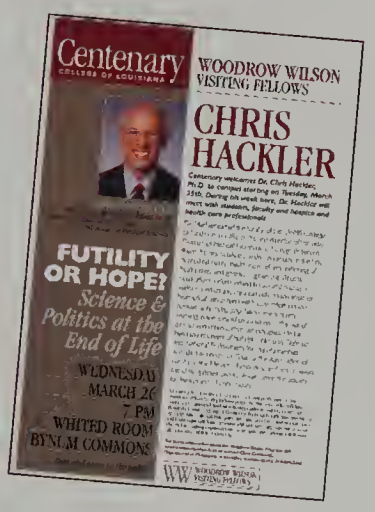
Keynote speakers: Dr. Peter Huff, T.L. James Associate Professor of Religious Studies at Centenary College; and Dr. Osvaldo Vena, Associate Professor of New Testament at Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary in Chicago. The symposium was designed to increase the understanding between the two faiths.

Frost School of Business Speaker series

Keynote speakers: Stephen Brown, Director of Energy Economics at the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas; and David Joy, Chief Market Strategist and Chairman of Capital Markets Committee, RiverSource Investments. Brown's talk focused on oil and gas pricing and its impact on the economy. He also spoke to students in the Money and Banking class on the role of the Federal Reserve as a stabilizing force in times of crisis. Joy discussed the market outlook and his role as chief market strategist at RiverSource investments.

Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellow

Futility and Hope: Science or Politics at the End of Life?



Keynote speaker: Chris Hackler, PhD, Director of the Division of Medical Humanities, University of Arkansas, College of Medicine. Public lecture focused on ethics in medicine and law as they relate to end of life issues.

Corrington Award for Literary Excellence-2008

Alice McDermott-recipient

The John William Corrington Award for Literary Excellence is presented annually by the Department of English on behalf of the Centenary student body and faculty. It is awarded to an established writer who has earned the critical esteem of readers who distinguish artistic accomplishment from commercial success.

McDermott's books include A Bigamists' Daughter; and That Night, a finalist for the Pulitzer Prize, the National Book Award, and for the Los Angeles Times Book Prize. At Weddings and Wakes, her third novel, became a New York Times bestseller. Her novel Charming Billy also won the National Book Award. She also authored Child of My Heart and After This.

Mormons in America

Keynote speaker: Richard Lyman Bushman, PhD, Centenary College Attaway Fellow, and American historian, Gouverneur Morris Professor of History emeritus at Columbia University. He was recently appointed to a professorship in Mormon studies at Claremont Graduate University. Regarded as one of the leading historian's of Mormonism, Dr. Bushman discussed the practices and theology of one of the fastest growing major denominations in the United States.

Commencement

Keynote speaker: Lt. Gen. Robert J. Elder Jr., Commander of 8th Air Force, and Joint Functional Component Commander for Global Strike and Integration, U.S. Strategic Command, Offutt Air Force Base, Neb. During his commencement speech, Gen. Elder explained the importance of cyberspace and how it affects our every-day lives.

During the commencement, the College's highest degree – the honorary degree – was awarded to Dr. Lee Morgan and Lt. Gen. Elder. Morgan received the honorary doctorate of LL.D., while Gen. Elder received an honorary degree of Doctor of Science.

Continuing a Tradition of Faculty Excellence

Centenary faculty members enjoy a reputation for excellence in publishing, speaking and consulting, and the College continues to attract renowned scholars to its well-rounded faculty.

- Assistant Professor and Chair Health & Exercise Science Department, Dr. Shelley Armstrong's article "Social Connections, Self-Esteem and Depression Symptomatology Among Collegiate Athletes Versus Nonathletes" will be published in the Journal of American College Health in an upcoming edition. Her article, "Application of the Health Belief Model to the Use of Bariatric Surgery Among Middle-Aged Females in Texas," will also be published later this year in the Journal of Gastroenterology Nursing.

- Professor of English, Dr. David Havird's poems, "From Whitehall to Greenwich" and "The Horse on Zennor Hill" were published in The Sewanee Review during the summer 2007. In early 2008, his poem, "The Snow" was published in Measure: A Review of Normal Poetry.

- The Research Corporation, a foundation for the advancement of science, awarded Dr. Mary Robert Garrett the Cottrell College Science Award for her work in organic chemistry research. Garrett, an Assistant Professor of Chemistry, was awarded funding in the amount of $41,271 for her research project entitled Synthesis of Enantioenriched Beta-Ketoesters via a Ketene-Claisen.

- The Bounds of Cognition is the second book authored by Dr. Ken Aizawa, Charles T. Beaird Professor of Philosophy and Chair of Philosophy Department. The book has been called a timely and relevant study that exposes the need to develop a more sophisticated theory of cognition, while pointing a bold new direction in exploring the nature of cognition. It challenges the current popularity of extended cognition theory through critical analysis and by pointing out fallacies and shortcomings in literature.

- David Bedard, Ed. D., Professor Emeritus of Health and Exercise Science, has written I Remember Quan Loi, the story of his experiences in Vietnam as a young soldier. His book chronicles the way of life and living conditions of American soldiers in Vietnam, of the French and Vietnamese who lived in the vicinity of Quan Loi, the horrors of war, and of his return home to Texas where he struggled with the realization that he would never be the same person he was before going to Vietnam.

- After seven years, Dr. Susan Brayford, Associate Professor of Religious Studies, has completed the translation and commentary for Septuagint Commentary Series entitled Genesis. This is the first English language commentary on the Greek Genesis. This translation from the Torah allowed Greek-speaking Jews in the last centuries Before the Common Era to read their stories in the new language. The commentary includes an English translation of the text of Codex Alexandrinus and provides insight into the theological, philological, and sociological issues that abound in the book of Genesis.

- What Are They Saying About Fundamentalisms? is Dr. Peter Huff's latest book, a brief, comprehensive, and balanced introduction to major trends in the academic study of fundamentalism, aimed at both college and seminary students as well as the general reader. This book offers a critical and empathetic survey of the world's major fundamentalist movements and the innovative scholars who study them. Dr. Huff is the T.L. James Eminent Scholars Chair of Religion and Chair of Religious Studies Department.

- Plants of Beaver Island was co-authored by Dr. Ed Leuck II, Warters Chair of Biology and Chair of the Biology Department. Written in two parts, it covers bogs and ferns, then Lake Michigan beaches and sand dunes. Dr. Leuck spent many summers providing on-site photographs and evaluations to the Beaver Island Recreation Resource Project. His special interests are native plants and their use and incorporation into cityscapes. On Beaver Island, he works to keep out invasive species and aggressively promotes leaving the natural vegetation.

- Dr. Earle Labor, Wilson Professor of American Literature, presented "The Agony and Ecstasy: Writing the 'Definitive' Jack London Biography" at the Annual Conference of the Popular Culture Association in San Francisco. Labor, the official biographer of novelist Jack London and curator of the Jack London Museum at Centenary College, was also appointed to chair an additional session "Jack London's Life and Works: Journalism and Other Non-Fiction."

- Jennifer Strange, Lecturer in English, presented "Will the Green Lady Become a Self? The Dangers of Self-Consciousness in CS Lewis' Perelandra" at the C.S. Lewis, The Man and His Work: A 21st Century Legacy conference, hosted by Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest, N.C. Strange also had two works published during the year: "Bradenton's Relic" appeared in the Summer 2007 edition of Rock and Sling; and "Down the Sea's Throat, Singing" appeared in the Autumn 2007 edition of Christianity and Literature.

- Centenary welcomed new faculty members to the College for the 2007-08 academic year. They included: Katy Valentine, Lecturer in Religious Studies; Dr. Troy Messina, Assistant Professor of Physics and Broyles Inaugural Chair; Emily Heugatter-Mathias, Assistant Professor of Theatre; David Hobson, A.C. "Cheesy" Voran Choir Director of the Centenary College Choir; Dr. Mark Goadrich, Broyles Eminent Scholars Chair in Computational Mathematics; Chris Brandt, Lecturer in Mathematics; Jeffrey Agnew, Lecturer in Geology; and Dr. Mary Robert Garrett, Assistant Professor of Chemistry.

CONNECT

Fostering Social Richness, Community Pride and Global Service

This year, Centenary College celebrated 100 years of academic tradition and history in Shreveport and Bossier City. The school traces its charter to 1825, but at the turn of the last century, northwest Louisiana welcomed the school's move to the current campus. Centenary has maintained deep connections to our local community ever since.

One word that defines Centenary is Community. People living in the Shreveport and Bossier City area know the school for its contributions to music and theatre, research, science, religion, literature and art, and public debate. Centenary has been the center of much opportunity for northwest Louisiana and the students who have attended. At Centenary, we connect with the community that has welcomed us...our students care deeply for the wider communities surrounding us...and our community inspires them to lives of service.

The Big Event

Students, staff, faculty, and alumni took part in the BIG EVENT, a community service project that helped our neighbors in the Highland Historic District. More than 300 members of the College braved thunderstorms and canvassed the neighborhood to help out with household tasks such as scraping and repainting shutters, raking, weeding, general yard work, picking up trash and making new friends. "It was nice being able to get out and give something back to the community," said Megan Ottesen, '08. "It's better than sleeping in on Saturday!"

Kids' Healthy Fun Run

Showing that running can be a fun and healthy way to exercise, Centenary's Cross Country team took to the streets with more than 200 students from local schools during the 3rd Annual Healthy Kids' Fun Run here on campus. The event targeted elementary and middle school children in hopes of promoting running as an important part of a healthy lifestyle. Children from kindergarten to 8th grade participated in the run.

"All the hard work put into this race was all worth it because the kids were given an opportunity to be in a fun, safe environment and exercise," said cross country team member Laura Way, a physical education major and co-director of the Kids' Run. "At the end of it, that's all that really matters anyway!"

Besides the Healthy Kids' Fun Run, the Centenary men's and women's cross country teams enjoyed a busy week of community involvement. From presentations by Head Coach Dr. Shelley Armstrong to runs with local schools, the cross country team has been doing its part to create a healthier Shreveport-Bossier area.

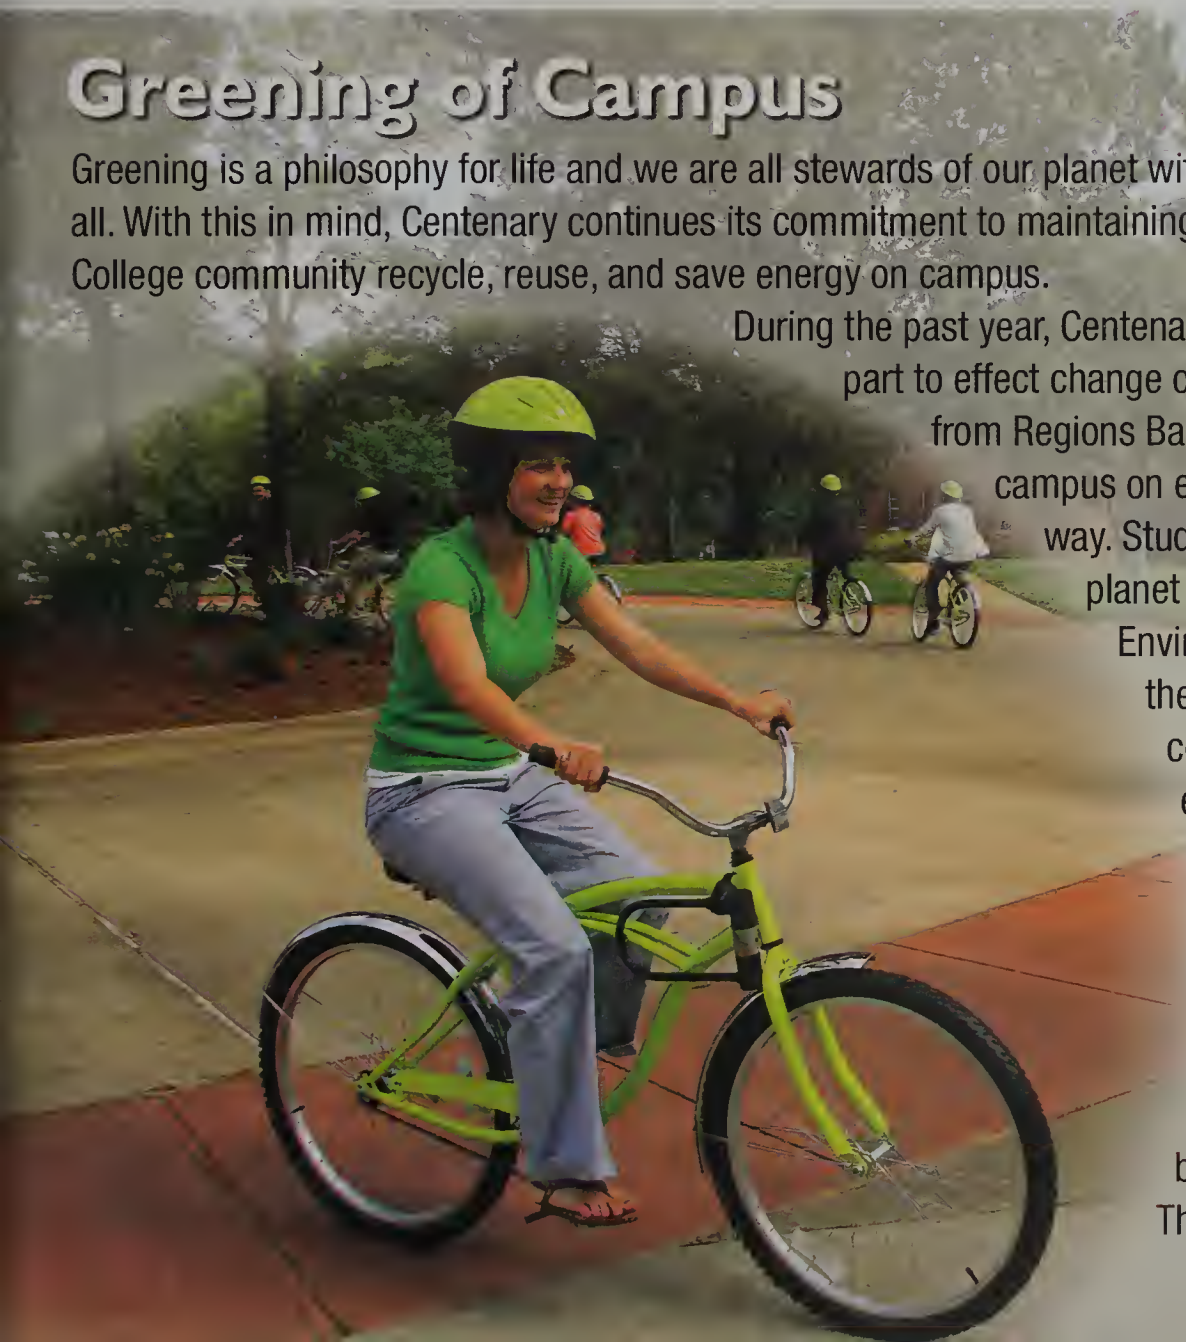
Center for Civic Engagement Launch

Dedicated to the highest standards of community involvement, teaching, research and service, Centenary's Center for Civic Engagement (CCE) takes an integrated, interdisciplinary approach to important social issues affecting the community today. Under the direction of Dr. Steve Shelburne, Professor of English and Chair of the Department, the Center has a simple mission: to cultivate the processes of successful civic engagement for our community, both within and beyond the College. The Center exerts its efforts in three broad areas: cultivating civil dialogue aimed at community progress; studying and endorsing the best practices of civic engagement; and conducting, disseminating, and archiving research in the public interest.

Though the CCE is officially a "new" enterprise, announced in the College's recent Strategic Plan, the College has been doing much of this work for some time. In the aftermath of Hurricanes Katrina and Rita, two public forums were conducted for first responders and community leaders, as well as a FEMA informational conference for those displaced to the Shreveport-Bossier area by the hurricanes. The College was also the site of a joint meeting of the American Institute of Architects and Community Renewal International, as well as a Sierra Club/ Kisatchie Foundation meeting about the environmental implications of coal-burning power plants in Louisiana.

In the future, the CCE will offer the Shreveport-Bossier City community:

- The intellectual resources and physical space for the study of current social issues and their underlying causes
- A public forum for engaging in open dialogue about current social issues
- A searchable listing of social service organizations and their volunteer and research needs
- Contact with students and organizations to facilitate mutually beneficial and educational interactions



Greening of Campus

Greening is a philosophy for life and we are all stewards of our planet with personal responsibility for the care and survival of all. With this in mind, Centenary continues its commitment to maintaining a greener campus by encouraging and helping the College community recycle, reuse, and save energy on campus.

During the past year, Centenary embarked on several initiatives in order to do its part to effect change on the global stage. Through a generous donation from Regions Bank of Shreveport, students are able to travel around campus on eight "green" bicycles in an environmentally-friendly way. Students, staff and faculty also learned how to help the planet during Earth Fair 2008. Sponsored by the Centenary Environmental Association, the campus community had the opportunity to learn about wildlife conservation, community gardens, and how to better care for our environment. Culminating the fair was a "tree-hugging" event. Members of the faculty and staff, including Dr. Kenneth L. Schwab, President of the College, were chained to trees to raise funds for the installation of a 720-watt solar array for the roof of the Magale Memorial Library. Not only will the array offset energy costs and reduce GHG emissions, but will also be used by various faculty members for pedagogical purposes. The fundraiser generated more than $1,200 dollars.

OPPORTUNITY

Providing Distinctive Experiences

May Modules

Take a course and see the world. That is the sentiment at Centenary where students are encouraged to leave the confines of the classroom and experience the many ways people live and interact across the globe. Enlightenment is gained through direct interaction with other cultures, while experiencing a culture different than their own. This year, students had the opportunity to travel across the region and around the world.

Students could choose to study the music, art and literature of the Mississippi Delta and gain an understanding and appreciation of indigenous artists who represent the culture between Europe and Africa, industry and agriculture, and privilege and poverty.

Another group of students lived in Paris, France for two weeks, immersing themselves in the culture they learned about by American writers, artists and intellectuals. While visiting two national biological reserves in Nicaragua, another group analyzed the flora and fauna of a tropical dry forest.

Two separate groups visited China. The first studied the history, culture and business environment of China and learned the key differences between Chinese and Western social and business cultures. The other group explored the Xia Dynasty to the 2008 Olympics, visiting the capital at the Forbidden City, the Great Wall, cruising down the Li River and watching the sunrise, and experiencing a large cosmopolitan city…Shanghai.

Three separate May modules took students half-way across the globe: they witnessed first-hand the cultural identity in modern and historic Spain, interacted with the people of Germany while studying artworks and literature, and discovered the major religions of northern India and the traditions and teachings of Tibetan Buddhism.

Mexico Missionary Trip

Working with the conviction that differences among people diminish when they are employed in side-by-side work for a cause greater than themselves, the Christian Leadership Center promotes local and short-term mission opportunities for students, alumni, and friends of the College. Annual mission opportunities are grounded in biblical study, integrated with theological discussion and reflection, and open to Centenary students and adults who desire to be a healing presence in the world.

This year, 13 students passed on the traditional Spring Break activities to don work boots, scrubs and work gloves, and spent five days in Reynosa, Mexico, digging trenches, scrapping and removing old flooring, and tearing down old buildings. The goal of the mission trip was to assist the people of the community by helping with construction projects for a local Methodist church in the city, and to provide medical assistance at a remote fishing village along the Gulf Coast. One student summed it all up by saying that her eyes were opened to the intense poverty and vast need for healthcare, but that "people having the least to give show the greatest gratitude and hospitality."

Student/Faculty Research for Academic Year 2007-08

Centenary has long been known for its vibrant academics, excellent preparation for graduate and professional schools, and quality interaction between students and faculty. An extraordinary number of its graduates go on to leadership roles in the science and medical communities as well as in business and industry. Students begin this journey by connecting with faculty while conducting research alongside their mentors. Some of the research this academic year included:

- Lacey Anderson, '08 philosophy and German major, presented results of her research, "Exercise in Rumination: Exegesis of Aphorism 24 from the Second Essay of Nietzsche's On the Genealogy of Morals," at the Louisiana State Graduate Student Philosophy Conference. Faculty advisers: Dr. Christopher Ciocchetti, Philosophy Department Chair, and Dr. Mark Gruettner, Professor of German.
- Brad Kramer, '08, Bachelor of Science in Neuroscience; and Deana Apple, senior and neuroscience major, conducted research to determine the colocalization of various kinases within the suprachiasmatic nucleus of mice. They presented their findings at the national meeting of The Society for Neuroscience in San Diego, Calif. Faculty adviser: Dr. Greg Butcher, Assistant Professor of Neuroscience.
- Maegan Daigle, senior psychology major, and Dr. Amy Hammond, Assistant Professor in Psychology, conducted research on the nature of virtual communities, in particular, the phenomenon of matching hypothesis.
- Jennifer Martin, '08 economics and accounting major, and Dr. Elizabeth L. Rankin, Professor of Economics received a Student-Faculty Research Grant to examine consumer debt. Jennifer presented her findings at the annual meeting of the Missouri Valley Economic Association, October, 2007, in Kansas City, Mo.
- Laura Pryor, a senior majoring in Political Science and Economics, presented her Honors project paper entitled "Market Concentration and the Cost of Attendance in Major League Baseball," at the 2008 Southwestern Society of Economists meeting, a member of the Federation of Business Disciplines, in Houston, Texas. Faculty advisers: Dr. Elizabeth L. Rankin, Professor of Economics, and Dr. Harold R. Christensen, Professor of Economics and Director of the Economic Education Center.
- Robert James, a senior majoring in Economics with a minor in Political Science, presented his Honors project, "Voting Economics: Examining the Factors Influencing American Citizens to Engage in Politics Through the Act of Voting," at the 2008 Southwestern Society of Economists meeting, in Houston, Texas. Faculty advisers: Dr. Elizabeth L. Rankin, Professor of Economics, and Dr. Harold R. Christensen, Professor of Economics and Director of the Economic Education Center.
- Ryan Landry, a senior majoring in Finance and Business, attended the 2008 Southwestern Society of Economists meeting, in Houston, Texas, where he presented his Honors project, "Evaluating Violent Crime Rates in Houston Before and After Hurricane Katrina." Faculty adviser: Dr. Elizabeth L. Rankin, Professor of Economics.
- George Tiller, a senior biology major, has been conducting research for the past two years on a project entitled "Genetic Variation in Forest and Grassland Peromyscus." He has presented his findings at multiple research forums. His research could lead to the naming of a new species. Faculty adviser: Dr. Scott Chirhart, Assistant Professor of Biology.

Student Achievement

In the tradition of Centenary's highly regarded and competitive curriculum, students continued to amass an impressive number of honors in local, state and national competitions. Highlights from the 2007-08 academic year include:

- Three Centenary students were among the 13 college students in the inaugural group of the summer internship program started by Shreveport Mayor Cedric Glover. The program offered undergraduate and graduate students a look at the inner workings of city government. Appointed interns from Centenary College included: Cory Goodwin, a senior majoring in business administration, who worked in operational services; Jeremy Babers, a senior majoring in political science, who worked in the office of economic development/Fair Share; and Stephen Lioy, '08 political science and philosophy major, who worked in the office of the city prosecutor/city attorney.
- Jennifer Landry, a junior completing a major in French, was the recipient of the highly competitive Lois and John Breaux Scholarship through the La Fondation Louisiane, which awarded eight foreign-study scholarships to college and high school students from across Louisiana. The scholarship covered all expenses to study at the University of Mons in Belgium for the 2007-08 academic year.
- When senior Rachel Powell "took off" a semester to go on the "Soulforce Equality Ride" in 2006, she was only just beginning to work on her sociology degree. Nevertheless, she used the experience to accomplish the fieldwork research for an award-winning paper on social movements, "Sustaining Group Members: A Case Study in Social Movement Organizations." Powell's research was honored with two prestigious awards in 2008, one regional and one international. They included: The Odum Award for best undergraduate paper from the Southern Sociological Society and the Undergraduate Paper Award from Alpha Kappa Delta, the International Sociology Honor Society.
- Every year, Centenary students present their best works of exploration and invention to fellow students and faculty at the Student Research Forum. A community tradition over our past 17 years, the Research Forum is modeled upon long-standing academic traditions of conference-based information sharing and feedback. The 2008 Research Forum winners included:

Social Science Oral Presentations:

Katherine Michiels, senior, education major
Laura Pryor, senior, economics and political science major
James Frantz, senior, psychology major

Humanities Oral Presentations:

Lacey Anderson, senior, philosophy and German major
Anna Maris, junior, dance and psychology major
Jennifer Bouso, senior, religious studies major

Natural Science Oral Presentations:

Abigail Piazza, senior, neuroscience major
Bryon Larson, senior, chemistry major
George Tiller, senior, biology major

Poster Presentations:

David Moss, junior, geology major
Elizabeth Robinson, senior, biology major

Board of Regents Approves Endowed Professorships

The Louisiana Board of Regents approved 26 Endowed Professorships. In order to create an Endowed Professorship, colleges and universities must raise 60 percent of the cost from private sources. Centenary was required to raise $60,000 from private donations leading to a Board of Regents match of $40,000 for each professorship. Professorships were made possible by Dr. Bobbie J. and Bettie Hollingsworth '49, Dr. Anne Brewster and C. Walter Dobie '54, and the Crawford and Atkins families of Shreveport, whose support spans more than 100 years.

- Senior Anna Maris, dance and psychology major, was invited to perform her dance, "The Ebb of a Heart's Progression" during the Gala Concert of the American College Dance Festival Association Conference. Held at Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, Texas, the performance was only one of 12 selected for the Gala Concert from a total of 51 submitted for adjudication.
- Four senior history and political science majors representing Centenary's Alpha-Alpha-Omega chapter, were among thirty-one students from 10 colleges and universities who presented papers on various topics during the Louisiana Regional Meeting of Phi Alpha Theta, the history honor society. During the meeting, Margaret McDonald presented, "The Centenary College Choir: Becoming America's Singing Ambassadors." Amanda Russell presented, "Ballots, Barriers, Purges, and Surges: African-American Voting Rights in Shreveport and Caddo Parish, Louisiana, 1958-1969." Miranda Tucker presented, "Police Brutality in 1960s Shreveport." Mary Wubbena was awarded the Kimberly Hanger Prize for the best undergraduate paper presented, "'Have You No Decency?': Shading the Civil Rights Movement in Red."
- Hannah Moore, a junior majoring in art and Miss Shreveport, captured the swimwear and physical fitness competition on the first night of preliminaries in the Miss Louisiana pageant on June 20 at the Monroe Civic Center in Monroe, La.

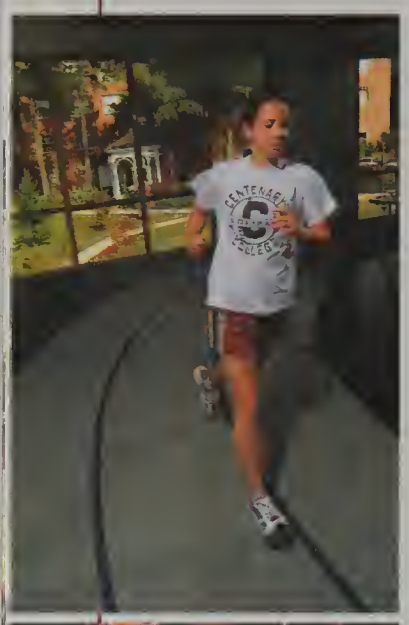
Leading the way for future generations



Student-Athletes

The 2007-08 Centenary athletic seasons offered many highlights ranging from accomplishments in the classroom to stellar performances on the field of play. To cap off the seasons, the athletics department as a whole was awarded The Summit League Sportsmanship Award for the second consecutive year by its peer members in the conference.

On the field, 30 student-athletes were chosen to various All-Summit League teams and six received All-Louisiana accolades, including Anne Farrell, a sophomore majoring in health and exercise science, as women's basketball Louisiana Freshman of the Year. Six Centenary gymnasts were named USA Gymnastics All-Americans, and Courtney Hawkins, a sophomore majoring in health and exercise science, was crowned the USAG National Floor Exercise Champion. In addition, gymnast Laura Loy, freshman health and exercise science major, advanced to an NCAA Regional on the balance beam.

The Centenary softball and baseball teams both qualified for The Summit League Tournament for the fifth straight year with softball earning the top seed. The Ladies also set a new school record with 14 consecutive wins during their campaign. Gymnastics took third place at the USAG National Championships, held this year at Centenary College, while the men's swimming team grabbed second place at The Summit League Championships.

Individually, Centenary golfer Greg Berthelot, a freshman business administration major, won the Pizza Hut/Bellsouth Invitational and sophomore cross country runner Adam Nerio, majoring in health and exercise science, won the Centenary Invitational.

In the classroom, Student-Athletes won Academic awards including:

- A total of 66 Centenary College student-athletes have been named to the Summit League Conference Academic All-League Teams for the winter and spring seasons. The team includes athletes from baseball, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's golf, softball, men's and women's swimming, and men's and women's tennis. The 66 Centenary members on the winter and spring academic all-league teams join the 37 Ladies and Gents that earned a spot for the fall semester. In all, a total of 103 Centenary student-athletes earned the honor in their respective seasons out of a possible 226 (46 percent) on 15 teams that compete in The Summit League (gymnastics competes in the Midwest Independent Conference). In order for a student-athlete to be selected to the academic all-league team, he/she must have a 3.00 or better grade-point average in the semester in which they compete, and must be a letterwinner in the sport in which they compete.
- The 2007-08 Summit League Commissioner's List of Academic Excellence included 77 Centenary student-athletes from 15 league-sponsored sports who were honored for their academic prowess. In order for a student-athlete to be selected to the Commissioner's List of Academic Excellence, he/she must carry a 3.00 or better cumulative grade point average, achieve sophomore academic standing at the institution, have used a year of eligibility and be on the squad list in the sport in which he/she is nominated.
- Centenary men's basketball player Travis Hill was one of eight Summit League basketball players named to the 2007-08 National Association of Basketball Coaches Honors Court. To qualify for the NABC Honors Court, student-athletes must be varsity basketball players who have completed their third year of academic work with at least a 3.20 cumulative grade-point average. Hill, a junior from Bedford, Texas, has a 3.33 GPA in communications. The guard appeared in 13 games for the Gents, averaging 2.7 minutes.

Marjorie Lyons 50th Anniversary

A significant contributor to the Shreveport-Bossier arts community, the Marjorie Lyons Playhouse at Centenary celebrated its golden anniversary with glitz and glamour in December, 2007. Alumni, community members and current students reunited on stage to perform highlights from productions the playhouse has produced over the many years.

What began as a primitive white frame building in the mid-1950s with high caliber productions and summer musicals has become a center for theater production in Shreveport-Bossier. The Playhouse has produced numerous musical productions including Hair and The King and I as well as plays from Romeo and Juliet to Angels in America. Known for its lavish and sometimes provocative productions throughout the years, the Playhouse auditions students and community members, making for some remarkably sophisticated theatre.

Breaking Ground

With the help of generous donations, Centenary College embarked on ambitious summer projects of renovations and new construction totaling more than $2 million. Included in the projects were renovations to the Gold Dome and residence halls, construction of Riggs Plaza and the Leadership Fountain, and various smaller projects around the campus.

Home to Centenary sports, the Gold Dome and athletic complex received more than $725,000 worth of improvements and renovations including resurfacing of the tennis courts, new softball dugouts and an upgraded public address system. However, one of the largest projects took place in the 2,000 seat multi-purpose Gold Dome arena by installing a new wooden floor and new lower seating.

The College also received $1 million in donations for the Residence Halls to provide upgrades and new construction. Bedrooms, bathrooms and lounges received a facelift while furniture was replaced, new flooring and water heaters were installed, and air system ductwork cleaned.

Riggs Memorial Plaza and Leadership Fountain, a joint beautification project that commemorates campus leaders, with the creation of a water feature and gardens, was constructed during the summer months in the Quadrangle. The official groundbreaking ceremony took place in February during Homecoming week.

The project has evolved since its initial conception in 2001 when the business leadership class in the Frost School of Business crafted a plan for the Leadership Fountain and raised more than $40,000 for the project. The 2003 business leadership class then connected that plan with fundraising for student scholarships as the Paving the Way Campaign, which is when the project caught the eye of Leonard Riggs Jr. '64, who generously designated part of his parents' estate to the larger plan of landscaping the quadrangle between Mickle and Hamilton Halls as a garden space.

"This project is representative of the love Leonard Riggs Sr., '28 had for the campus," said Dr. Kenneth L. Schwab, Centenary College President. "His long association with Centenary has spanned many decades and has had a lasting effect on the beauty of the campus."

Leonard M. Riggs Sr., a landscape architect from Longview, Texas, worked with Dr. S. D. Morehead in preparing the major layout for the campus beautification program and initiating improvements campus wide. His most well known project on campus was Crumley Gardens at the corner of Centenary Boulevard and Kings Highway, a site that continues to draw many visitors to campus when the azaleas are in bloom. He is also credited with bringing azaleas to this part of Louisiana.

The official dedication took place in October 2008.

Dear Donors

Thank you!

You are not only generous but joyful in your giving. In the years we have worked together, you have taught many of us at this fine educational institution what a truly educated person is.

You are the Samaritans who care for people in need as your neighbors, who see the promise in a young person's eager face, who take pleasure in providing whatever Centenary needs: microscopes, computers, scholarships, professorships, baseballs, gym floors, tennis courts, choir robes, new paint, beautiful gardens, and vans that actually run.

Students flourish because of you. They graduate, work for good causes, succeed at worthy professions, read good books, write great books, compose music, act on Broadway, lead their communities, and give back to their college. May it ever be so.

As we conclude our 100th year in north Louisiana, Centenary feels young, strong, and ready for a wonderful future, a future made possible by your unselfish support.

Gratefully,

Katherine Fell
